

Thinker Thought Records
309-648-3281 (Jared), j@thinkerthoughtwrong.com
www.thinkerthoughtwrong.com

The Amazing Kill-o-watts
309-287-1285 (Tyson), thekillowatts@aol.com
www.theamazingkillowatts.com

The Amazing Kill-o-Watts

The Amazing Kill-o-watts are:

Atomic Kill-o-watt- Drums and Vocals
Tyson Kill-o-watt- Vocals and Guitar
Marsha Kill-o-watt- Bass and Vocals
Laura Kill-o-watt- Guitar and Vocals

Contact The Amazing Kill-o-watts at:

309-287-1285 (Tyson) or 309-370-3489 (Atomic) thekillowatts@aol.com (Tyson)

Contact Thinker Thought Records at:

309-648-3281
j@thinkerthoughtwrong.com
1002 Devonshire Road
Washington, IL 61571, USA

Visit www.theamazingkillowatts.com for more info.

Biography:

It can be said that the greatest musical groups come from great friendships first. This can surely be said of The Amazing Kill-o-watts, with an incredibly long run with the same core members. The band formed initially under the name of Ham in 1995 and quickly evolved into a three-piece containing Tyson, Marsha, and Atomic (Marsha and Atomic being brother and sister). The style that emerged combined elements of surf, power pop, and garage rock, while holding up the "geek" aesthetic. Over the next five years, they played hundreds of undocumented shows in Illinois and the states surrounding, developing especially loyal followings in Central Illinois and Central Iowa. They also managed to release their first full-length CD along with an assortment of tapes, demos, and even appearances on the soundtracks of a few Troma films.

In the year 2000, the group solidified even further with the addition of Laura on second guitar, and with the change of the band name from Ham to The Amazing Kill-o-watts. During their seven-year run, The Amazing Kill-o-watts have shared the stage with variety of incredible acts including Five Iron Frenzy, RX Bandits, The Mad Caddies, The Samples, The Toasters, Reel Big Fish, The Urge, Midtown, New Found Glory, Mudvayne, Wesley Willis, and The Alkaline Trio. The debut album for The Amazing Kill-o-watts, "The Terror of Technology", came out in June 2002 as a combined effort between Clumsy Records and Thinker Thought Records.

The Amazing Kill-o-watts includes Thomas "Atomic" Satterfield (ex-member of No Idea Records' Scouts Honor) and Marsha Satterfield (ex-member of Victory Records' The Forecast).

Releases:

The Amazing Kill-o-watts "The Terror of Technology" full-length CD released in 2002 on Clumsy Records/Thinker Thought Records (CR004/THI003)
Ham "Brave New World" full-length CD
self-released in 1998

Press:

(The Amazing Kill-o-watts) is a Power Pop/Geek Rock quartet from Illinois that plays deceptively simple songs.- The Unofficial Aquaman Website

(The Amazing Kill-o-watts) is the embodiment of Geek Rock. They gather elements of the sixties, mix it with eighties pop culture and throw in... matching uniforms and robotic performances. What else could you want?- Geeko

